Editor's Corner

Summer is right around the corner. And with the advent of summer are some awesome trip opportunities. The club will be taking a trip to the Federal Reserve in KC in June. I toured the Federal Reserve while in college and it was something to remember. I am glad our YNs will have the opportunity to tour this facility, too. July will bring our annual trip to St. Charles for the MNS show. This is one Dillon & I never miss. And this year's show has the added bonus of being on my birthday weekend!

Last weekend was Carthage's show. While the crowd was a bit on the thin side, there were some great deals to be found.

You might notice a change in our YN reporter. Welcome aboard Nathan! I know you'll do a great job. ~Dyan

YN Chit Chat

Hello everyone. This month's meeting was amazing! Back in the YN classroom Mr. Porter taught us about how several US mints made currency for foreign countries. That was a very interesting lesson. Afterward we played a game with some of Mr. Porter's coin examples. Two people were winners in the game. The winners were: Christopher Underwood and Kyra De Byle. Thank you all and hope to see you next month.

Nathan Underwood.

Coin of the Month Effigy Mounds National Monument Quarter

Effigy Mounds National Monument was established in 1949. The park protects one of the largest remaining concentrations of ancient American Indian earthworks in the United States. It is considered a sacred landscape by members of many modern-day tribes whose ancestors once lived here.

The majority of the mounds were constructed between one thousand and two thousand years ago — often to inter the dead, but sometimes for ceremonial purposes, or to tell important stories.

The park is home to more than 200 mounds in a wide variety of forms, including more than 30 animal or bird-shaped “effigy” mounds for which the park is named. Often more than 100 feet long individually, many of these animal and bird shaped mounds are perched high atop rugged bluffs overlooking the adjacent Mississippi River. Aside from preserving these tangible links to an ancient and highly creative people, the park features outstanding views of the Mississippi River Valley, and hosts many of the native plant and animal communities that sustained people in this area for millennia.

The coin design depicts an aerial view of mounds in the Marching Bear Group. Inscriptions are “EFFIGY MOUNDS,” “IOWA,” “2017,” and “E PLURIBUS UNUM.” Design candidates were developed in consultation with representatives of Effigy Mounds National Monument.
